PAY WARRANT, 1899.

A.O. 159.—Compulsory Stoppages; Secretary of State's Instructions.

The following will be substituted for paragraphs 1 to 5 of the Secretary of State's Instructions on page 223 of the Royal Warrant for Pay, &c., 1899:—

* Compulsory stoppages for the benefit of the wives and children of soldiers made in accordance with the provisions of Sections 138 and 145 of the Army Act, as amended by Section 4 of the Army (Annual) Act, 1889.

1. The Secretary of State has deputed to General Officers Commanding the power conferred on him by Section 145 of the Army Act, of placing a soldier under stoppages for the maintenance of his wife and children, &c. All magistrates' orders, decrees, and applications regarding stoppages under that section will accordingly be sent to the General Officer in whose command the soldier is serving.

When a stoppage is ordered by the General Officer Commanding, it will, subject to the limitation laid down in Article 957, be made for every day for which the soldier is entitled to pay, and will take precedence of all stoppages on account of fines and public and regimental debts.

In the event of the death of any child for whose maintenance a magistrate's order or decree has been made, the stoppage will be continued until all arrears of maintenance and costs have been paid off.

If a soldier expresses his willingness to contribute to the support of an illegitimate child, for whose support no magistrate's order or decree has been made, the same course may be pursued as in the case of compulsory stoppages, the payee's attention being drawn to the strictly voluntary nature of the stoppage.

2. The soldier's commanding officer will be held responsible that the stoppages are remitted as directed in the Order, &c.

3. The remittances will be made at home by a post office order, the cost of which will be charged against the public. In the Colonies and in India the amount will be included in the family remittance rolls for payment to the remittees at home by the chief paymaster, Home District, or the India Office, respectively.

4. Should no stoppage have been made in any month, or should the amount remitted fall short of the maximum stoppage ordered to be made in the month, the soldier's commanding officer will write to the woman explaining the reason. In the case of any complaint as to the non-remittance of the stoppages due, or of any question as to the amount legally recoverable from a soldier or of an application for the relief of a soldier from such stoppages, the General Officer Commanding the District in which the soldier may be serving at the time will take the requisite action, and cause the applicant or remittee concerned to be acquainted when necessary.

5. When a soldier subject to these stoppages is transferred or reposted, care will be taken by his commanding officer to communicate to his future commanding officer (1) the order placing the man under stoppage; (2) the date up to which the stoppages have been made; and (3) the address of the remittee.
